

A coping flexibility process based on the dual-process theory.